

PEOPLE FOR CLEAN MOUNTAINS

Clean mountains. Clean jobs. Clean economy.

People for Clean Mountains Invites You to Meet

Neil Seldman,
Institute for Local Self-Reliance

Learn about sustainable solid waste management and economic development options for Transylvania County.

Thursday, Aug. 8
7 p.m.
Brevard College Reserve Dining Room
*Free Admission

Seldman is a specialist in recycling and economic development that helps communities attract recycling enterprises and implement cost effective programs.

He will discuss and take questions about recycling strategies that lower costs, recycling incentives for households and businesses, and the types of reuse, composting and recycling companies that could be located in the county.

The Institute for Local Self Reliance has advised communities across the country on how they can create jobs from recycling and lower government operations costs.
